

The Quartet of Soloists BSO Tchaikovsky Symphony Orchestra conducted by Vladimir Fedoseyev.

BSO is one of the oldest and most famous orchestras in Russia, It began its history as the All-Union Radio Orchestra, his concerts were broadcast live and in peacetime and in war. The orchestra has gathered the best musicians from all over the country. During Soviet times, there was even a full-time unit - the "Quartet BSO".

Two of the four members of the current composition of more than fifteen years in the quartet, over the years it has been performed many concerts both in Russia and abroad: Moscow, St. Petersburg, Smolensk, Prague, Tokyo, London and many other cities offered their venues for this wonderful music band , the repertoire of the quartet works of Russian and foreign classics as well as works by contemporary composers.

Today November 26, 2013 the quartet will feature classic masterpieces by Tchaikovsky, Borodin, Sviridov , Elgar , Dvorak and other composers.

The composition of the quartet:

Vassily Pervakov - first violin

Dmitry Rafaelyants – second violin

Elena Bakulina - viola

Natalia Raspopova – cello